Greensboro Man Uses Restaurant to Help Needy Families

Danny’s Famous Rib Express Spends the Thanksgiving Holiday Giving Back

(North Carolina)- Thanksgiving has become a special day to join with loved ones in an offering of thanks for our many blessings. Some, however, have lost family members or simply do not have the financial resources to feed themselves.

A Greensboro man has decided that he will spend the rest of his days helping those who are less fortunate and cannot help themselves. Danny Rogers, of Danny’s Famous Rib Express, has committed to feed needy families this Thanksgiving. “...We are charged with the responsibility of learning our true history, and of having the courage to behave with honor and dignity toward our fellow man. This means that we must reach out to help others” said Rogers. “Remember...if the lessons of history are not learned, they will surely repeat themselves, so if we are willing to do for others, perhaps this can change the way that people see each other.”

Danny Rogers opened Danny’s Famous Rib Express less than 1 year ago, and he spends much of his time training his restaurant staff to give back. Rogers has taken a new approach to running a restaurant and he firmly believes that in order for one to be blessed, he must be willing to bless others.

Rogers provides employment for ex-offenders and trains them to have the same giving spirit that he has.

On Thursday, November 27th Danny and his staff will feed needy families starting at 12:30 PM at the Greensboro location: 1524 East Market Street, Greensboro, NC, 27401. For more information, please call 336-617- 4920 or contact Tanya Wiley at 336-765-0049.
